Tankers Collide In Heavy Fog In Gulf Of Mexico

One Of Vessels Is Reported Sunk With All 35 Of Crew Lost

(BULLETIN)
NEW ORLEANS, April 20—(INS)—Two Standard Oil Company tankers collided today in a thick, soupy fog 300 miles southeast of New Orleans in the Gulf of Mexico and one of the ships was found enveloped in flames with no sign of life aboard six hours later.

The tanker, the Esso Greensboro, first believed to have sunk carrying its crew of 35 to the bottom with it, was spotted by a third Standard Oil Company tanker, the Esso New York.

MOBILE, Ala., April 20.—(INS)—Two Standard Oil Company tankers collided today in a heavy fog in the Gulf of Mexico at a point about 300 miles southwest of Mobile and one of the vessels was reported to have sunk with all hands, possibly as many as 35 men, presumably lost.

Coast guard officials at Mobile identified the sunken vessel as the Esso Zero Two, a T-2 type tanker which usually carries a crew of 35 men.

Presume All Aboard Lost

They said they were unable to establish radio contact with the Esso Zero Two and presumed it had gone down with all hands.

The first coast guard plane to reach the scene, a PBY, reported to New Orleans by radio at 11 a.m. EST that one tanker was still "afloat and burning." The plane's crew said it could find no trace of the second tanker.

The ship had collided with a sister tanker, the Esso Suez, reported to have been carrying nine million gallons of oil.

Pa Newsc notes that the Rose Point bridge was closed to traffic yesterday while the center island in the divided highway at that point is being built. A few more weeks and the highway will likely be completed, although it will probably take some time yet to erect guard rails along the sides of the highway.

Pa Newsc notes a growing tendency on the part of New Castle motorists to disregard traffic signals. Instead of slowing down, when lights start to turn, motor

New Super-Scientific Board Is Named By President

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 20—President Truman created a new super-scientific advisory body of the nation's leading scientists today to maintain the U. S. lead in atomic-hydrogen bomb development and other advanced weapons.

The new eleven-man group will work under "top-secret" wraps in their field of advanced nuclear fusion and other secret-weapon research.

The president selected Dr. Oliver C. Buckley, president of the Bell Telephone laboratories and now chairman of the board of that organization, as chairman.

The new group will be known as the Science Advisory Committee of the Office of Defense Stabilization and will function in a capacity of scientific research to the wartime office of scientific research and development, which developed the atomic bomb.

The committee, the White House said, "will advise the president and Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson in matters relating to scientific research and development for defense."

Management has refused to negotiate with the men until they return to work. Personal Director Thomas W. Dickey, Jr. said today, "This is an illegal strike. We are presently in a period of negotiations with CIO Local 3125. USA-CIO and following the law, the union has given a sixty day notice to the management, prior to the expiration of the contract. The expiration date is June 18.

Slowing Production
At present there are about two hundred employees out. Unless they return to work by Monday another two hundred will be forced out of work and the slowing down process will spread.

"Under the labor laws such a strike is illegal for the reason that the union has given the required sixty day notice of a desire to terminate the contract on the date of expiration, June 19. This calls for negotiation and we are now in the process of negotiations."

For the union, Local 3125, President Don Brown said, "it is true this is an illegal strike but there is some merit in the claim of the men."

"Months ago, when the 8-head jig was installed, the fast work was placed on this multiple unit machine. This resulted in changing orders on the hand prepared.

LONDON, April 20—(INS)—The British sloop Starling was reported today to have located an object on the bottom of the English Channel which possibly may be the lost submarine Affray.

"The position was given as southeast of Portland Bill. This is approximately 13 miles west of the point where the Affray first was believed down 35 miles southwest of the Isle of Wight.

Divers are expected to be sent down to investigate.

The British Admiralty announced yesterday that all hope was given up that any of the 75 men aboard the Affray, submerged since Monday night, could be rescued.

The announcement said that efforts will be continued to locate the ill-fated craft and to determine the cause of the disaster.

Four Are Killed In Plane Crash

Accident Occurs In Mexico City Area

MEXICO CITY, April 20.—(INS)—Mexican authorities sought positive identification today of four persons killed instantly last night in the crash of a private plane which bore the name of the Dore Electric Co. of Des Moines, Ia.

Two men and two women died in the crash of the plane, which apparently was attempting an emergency landing on farmland 60 miles north of Mexico City.

The plane, with the registry number N 4298-B crashed at 6:20 p. m. near the town of Pahuca, Hidalgo state. Farmers in the area reported seeing the plane circling the area and then plummet to the ground.

Papers recovered from the wreckage bore the names of James E. Morro and H. Slaking, believed to be those of the two men passengers. No addresses were on the papers.

Authorities also found a Mexican tourist permit issued in New York City April 13 bearing the name of Sylvia G. Manerick. There was no indication of the identity of the second woman.

More than 5,000 pesos of Mexican money and an unspecified amount of United States dollars were taken from the wreckage.

Two Sharp Red Counter-Attacks Are Hurled Back

Main Red Forces, However, Continue To Avoid Battle

By LEE FERRERO
(I. N. S. War Correspondent)

TOKYO, April 20—United Nations troops hurled back two sharp Communist counter-attacks on Korea's west-central front today after Chinese patrols stepped up their probing jabs at Allied lines.

The U. S. Army's Friday night communiqué said the day's two Red counter-attacks were unleashed by enemy units of company size southeast of Chorwon, an important North Korean supply and troop center.

Elsewhere along the muddy front, the bulletin said, relative quiet prevailed Friday as the main Red forces continued to avoid a showdown battle.

Push Deeper

In the west-central sector, United Nations tank-infantry units pushed deeper into Communist-ruled North Korea after routing stubborn Red defenders from hills with bayonets and flame throwers in two actions.

Through Thursday night and early Friday, Chinese patrols punched at UN positions in the rain-drenched mountains of central Korea, but were repulsed at every point.

Field advices said these jabs appeared to be probing thrusts seeking possible soft spots in the Allied lines through which the enemy's long-awaited 780,000-man spring offensive might be launched.

Capture Dam and Reservoir

East-northeast of Hwachon, where UN troops captured the huge Pukhan river hydroelectric dam and reservoir Wednesday, a full Red company of some 200 men struck at Allied positions before dawn Friday. By 3 a.m., the enemy attack was beaten off.

Other Communist patrol strikes elsewhere in the central area were similarly turned back.

Nation's Leaders To Join Tribute To Vandenberg

A. A. Martin, county highway superintendent, announced at 1 p. m. today, that arrangements are being made to rebuild the sunken section of Route 18 over the same right of way where the road is depressed, rather than seek a new right of way.

Advertisements are being set up now for the 12,000 or more tons of gravel to fill in the road, with work expected to be started on the highway, between Moravia and New Castle within ten days.

The work is to be done jointly by local maintenance forces and contract labor, Mr. Martin reported.

The Senator will be laid to rest in the Oak Hill cemetery near his parents and his first wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Watson Vandenberg, the mother of his three children. She died in 1916.

Only Military Career Ended For MacArthur

Says Removal Of MacArthur Was 'Political'

By LEE VAN ATTA
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 20—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the magnificent soldier and commander, may have closed his military career, but only to emerge today as MacArthur, the elder statesman and fearless critic.

The hero of Bataan left eyes moist when he told the joint committee of Congress that "I now close my military career and just fade away—an old soldier who tried to do his duty as God gave him the light to see that duty."

And then he uttered a simple, heart-wrenching "goodbye".

MacArthur thus wrote an end to his 52 years of military service. But from the same brilliant rhetoric which alternately swayed Congress from deathlike stillness to wildly cheering applause, the MacArthur of the future seemed to emerge: wise elder statesman and fearless critic.

From now on he will be doing some fighting of a kind not as familiar to him as bombs and beachheads and gunfire.

Police Officers Bill In Equity Claim Refused

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—(INS)—A bill in equity seeking to restrain a special grand jury from issuing financial questionnaires to Philadelphia policemen was thrown out of Common Pleas Court today by Judge James Gay Gordon, Jr.

The grand jury wants all members of the police force to list all their assets and liabilities to aid in its investigation of alleged police-gambling tipups.

Judge Gordon said that equity lacked jurisdiction in this case because equity protects property rights and he failed to see where property rights were involved in this suit.

The suit was brought by five individual policemen, all members of the Fraternal Order of Police which has opposed the questionnaires.

As the five policemen emerged from the courtroom, they were handed subpoenas to appear before the grand jury on Monday.

jigs with the result that the men could not make any incentive pay.

The management established a rate of $1.26 for batters-out but when it became apparent that the multiple unit jig was responsible for the men being unable to make incentive pay, management promised to adjust the rate so that batters-out would get a fair return for their labor. This has not been done.

"I have asked the management for a meeting to negotiate the grievance of the batters-out but it has refused to hold a meeting until the men go back to work. The union stands ready to negotiate this work stoppage at any time."

A note of explanation clarifying some terms used in this article may be of value.

A batter-out is a craftsman who takes a lump of moist clay and puts it on a mold, ready for processing into a plate or saucer, or other flat dish.

The jiggerman is the craftsman who operates the potters' wheel. This mold is placed on the head of the job and the clay is shaped and all excess clay trimmed off.

A multiple unit jig is a mechanical device which has eight jigs heads on it. The clay is fed to the jig automatically and two employees operate the multiple unit.

The board will meet next in Beaver Falls, May 16.

ONLY MILITARY CAREER ENDED FOR MacARTHUR

his views on far eastern policies have led him.

Nor has he any intention of hanging up his uniform in the foreseeable future.

Under the congressional act which established MacArthur's five-star rank he is never actually retired from active duty and can wear full uniform—or not—wherever and whenever he so desires, even though he does not have a designated command.

He is subject to recall to such a command whenever the President or the Department of Defense so order.

MacArthur retains the title "General of the Army" until his death. His $1,563.42 monthly salary is broken down as follows:

$954.75, base pay; $42, subsistence; $150, rental allowance, and $416.67, personal money allowance.

BAISLER-VASHAW CANDLELIGHT EVENT

A gown of shimmering white satin was chosen by Miss Winifred Joan Baisler for her marriage to Ronald Lee Vashaw on Saturday, April 7, in the Poland Methodist church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Baisler, New Middletown, O., and the groom, who resides in New Springfield, O., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vashaw, Rochester, Pa.

Rev. Norman A. Parr read the double ring ceremony at 7 o'clock.

Given in marriage by her father, the youthful bride appeared in a gown styled with a molded bodice with a sheer off-shoulder yoke of French marquisette. The full skirt terminated in a cathedral train, and her fingertip veil was a lovely compliment to the ensemble. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and satin streamers.

Mrs. Jack Hayes (Lourine Henry), former classmate of the bride, was matron of honor wearing a taffeta gown of daffodil yellow. A matching open crown hat was a pretty accent, and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and roses.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ernest Hitchcock, sister of the groom, who was attired in orchid taffeta, and Miss Lois Eckman, who wore spring green taffeta.

Little Sondra Baisler, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Chuckie March was the ring bearer.

Ernest Hitchcock served his brother-in-law as best man, while the ushers included Jack Hayes and Robert Eckman.

Mrs. Norman Parr presented a half hour recital of nuptial selections before the ceremony, and accompanied Gordon Price, the soloist.

Three hundred guests were entertained at the reception in the church parlor. The young couple later departed for a southern honeymoon. Upon their return with the bride's parents.

A graduate of the Springfield township high school and the Carnegie Institute in Cleveland, the bride is a laboratory technician at Dr. Bunn nad Dr. Rogers office. The groom, a graduate of Newton Falls high school, is a painter at the Mullens Corporation, Salem, Ohio.

ELMHURST WEDDING OF INTEREST HERE

Of interest to friends and relatives here is the marriage of Miss Beverly Jane Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Wood, Dongan avenue, Elmhurst, N. Y., and George W. Islinger, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Islinger Sr., Simson street, Elmhurst, N. Y.

Miss Wood is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Wood, 2309 Highland avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bowman, St. Petersburg, Fla., formerly of New Castle.

Oaths were exchanged on Saturday, April 14, in the Bethany Lutheran church of Elmhurst, with Rev. Bundi Skov performing the double ring ceremony at 4 p.m.

Given in marriage by her father, the attractive bride was gowned in white lace and tulle, styled with long sleeves, high neckline and cathedral train.

Mrs. Betty Bertsch, classmate of the bride, attended as maid of honor, wearing an aqua lace and tulle gown fashioned like that worn by the bride. Vincent Crockett served his brother-in-law as best man.

Following a reception in the Elks club of Elmhurst, the young couple departed for a honeymoon in Florida. They will reside in Elmhurst upon their return.

Mr. and Mrs. Islinger are graduates of the Newtown high school of Elmhurst. The bride is employed with an insurance firm in Manhattan, N. Y., while the groom, a graduate of Long Island university, is employed as a food salesman.

Three hundred guests were entertained at the reception in the church parlor. The young couple later departed for a southern honeymoon. Upon their return with the bride's parents.

REVEAL CRIME ON INCREASE

While international problems engage the thought of most persons in the United States, there is a grave threat to the government in the increasing number of crimes, both major and minor.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, reveals figures which show that every five minutes some one is killed or feloniously assaulted in this country, and a crime committed every 18 seconds.

The Kefauver Senate investigating committee, which visited a number of leading cities, revealed a conspiracy of crime that has shocked, if not alarmed, law-abiding citizens of the nation.

The report by Director Hoover shows that crimes during 1950 show an increase of one and a half per cent over the preceding year, with individual offenses going up except robbery.

Much has been made of the threat to the nation by communism, but this danger can hardly be compared with the criminal and moral degeneracy which reportedly is gripping the United States.

IN TRUMAN, TEXAS

Truman, Tex., is troubled. For reasons which seem plausible to its inhabitants, Truman seems no longer suitable. MacArthur has been suggested as a substitute.

Truman, Tex., holds a lesson for all communities which adopt new names. Choosing the name of a living celebrity is always risky. It is safer to wait until death has put its seal on fame.

Municipal name-changing is strictly a small-time habit. It is never attempted by big cities, except those in the Soviet sphere. But there state control of history and communication makes it certain that no reputation will ever be tarnished without government permission.

Name-changing in the United States has usually reflected a yearning for elegance or an embarrassed wish to avoid past associations which seem unduly plebian. The result may be a gain for euphony, but this is often canceled by the loss of historical significance.

Truman, Tex., could not make a better choice than MacArthur. With such a name it will never again be necessary for the town fathers to cast about for a new monicker. In fact, it is reported some of the residents of Truman wonder why it was ever thought a good idea to change the name from Mesquite Tap.

TWAS A FAMOUS FIGHT

The navy has assigned two of its landing craft to re-enact the battle of the Monitor and the Merrimac during the 61st and final reunion of the United Confederate Veterans at Norfolk in June. The craft will be fitted out to resemble the Monitor, with its revolving turret, the "cheesebox on a raft" of classic description, and the ironclad Virginia, more often called the Merrimac, which looked like an inverted cake tin.

It is difficult now to recapture any feeling of the consternation which swept through the North in the winter of 1861, when it was learned that the Confederates had raised the Merrimac, which had been sunk by the Federals in Virginia's Elizabeth River, and were rebuilding it with a casing of iron. A modern comparison would be an announcement that Russia had beaten us to the production of the first hydrogen bomb.

The Federals were not idle. In October Capt. John Ericsson, an engineer, began the construction of the Monitor. It left New York on the morning of March 6, 1862, and was on its way when the Merrimac lumbered down the Elizabeth, right into the Federal fleet of all-wood ships, anchored off Newport News. The Merrimac was clumsy and handled badly, but it did a lot of damage, mostly with an 18-inch cast-iron ram.

Next day when the Merrimac returned to the attack, the Monitor appeared and engaged her. They maneuvered about as spryly as a couple of middle-aged wrestlers and their shells bounced harmlessly from each other's decks. The Monitor withdrew when her commanding officer was wounded, but the Merrimac had enough, and after waiting a bit waddled back to Norfolk.

The indecisive result does not offer a full measure of the importance of their encounter. Strategically, the neutralizing of the Merrimac prevented the Confederates from breaking the Federal blockade at Hampton Roads and ended all possibility of a naval invasion of Washington. But more important to the future was the fact that it revolutionized naval architecture, ended the wooden warship and paved the way for the great battlewagons, submarines and carriers of modern times.

The battle between the Monitor and the Merrimac remains one of the great, dramatic episodes of the Civil War. It is appropriate that it should be re-enacted at a reunion of the last of those who shared with the Merrimac the defense of the Lost Cause, for in the famous battle there was glory enough for all.

Europe's Noble Experiment

The Schuman plan has been signed formally by its chief architects today and assuming the parliamentary ratification will be forthcoming, Europe seems to have started on what could be called—without sarcasm—a "noble experiment."

Significantly, for all its complexities, the program outlined for pooling heavy industries, to be followed by international cooperation in other fields has aroused a great deal of popular curiosity and apparent enthusiasm.

If it works as intended, the plan may give a tired Europe a new lease on life.

Backed up by the strong West European defense organization that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is attempting to create, it could be a revolutionary undertaking.

Previous Attempts

There have been previous half-hearted attempts to bring order out of the divided chaos, nationalism and rivalry of European industry as a whole.

In retrospect, it seems quite possible that the absence of military cooperation in the past contributed largely to failures in economic collaboration. There were two forces pulling against each other: those in favor of economic cooperation and those striving for individual militaristic supremacy.

The latter always won out. Industry was molded to the military will and those who saw peace made possible by meshing industrial gears were left crying in the wilderness.

Now that full agreement has been reached to pool resources, the foreign ministers of France, Western Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg must implement their determination to press for a European federation.

Britain Not Included

This will be open to Great Britain, which is not a participant in the Schuman plan, and presumably to Russia and the Iron Curtain satellites if and when these countries ever again become normal members of the family of nations.

There is little hope of this, in the foreseeable future.

Soviet Russia has just announced the beginning of a new five year plan for industry. It is an all-Communist plan, neither seeking nor allowing any international collaboration, which means simply an extension and continuation of Russia attempts to complete a world-defying self-sufficiency.

There is no place in the Soviet system for normal trade and exchange of goods with the Western democracies, and there will be even less, if possible, when the Schuman plan and its proposed auxiliary enterprises go into effect.

But it is quite apparent that the Russians would gain instead of loss in any such cooperation.

Enormous Capacities

As a matter of fact, experts agree that despite the destruction and demoralization of two great wars in recent years, Western Europe still has enormous unplanned capacities.

The fullest possible development on a scale of mutual advantage has prevented complete exploitation.

Schuman and his backers believe that the present treaty provides all the opportunity required for unchecked progress and development and they hint that the entire world, and perhaps even they themselves, will be surprised when it is learned that all-out cooperation in resources and industry can do.

The classic example, of course, is the United States, where the native intelligence and resources of a dozen varied European nationalities coalesced into an

What is the value of these few minutes that makes it worth while to jeopardize life and limb to gain them.

Truman In Fierce Controversy

WASHINGTON, April 20.—On few other presidents in our history have the winds of controversy ever blown as fiercely as on the man who by a curious combination of circumstances now occupies the White House. And for Harry S. Truman the political barometer seems to be still failing, with the prospect of still stormier weather ahead.

Memory goes back to that fatal week in June of 1944 when in Chicago the Democratic party was nominating Franklin D. Roosevelt for a fourth term. It was a dismal business with a kind of sullen and weary inevitability pressing down on most of the delegates. What remained to be done was somehow to get a vice presidential nominee out of this hot, disordered mass and go home.

Two or three of us were talking with Senator Truman in the sitting room of a suite high up in Stevens hotel on Chicago's lake front. My recollection of some of the things he said then as the decision was being made is as follows:

I'm Not Seeking It

"I'm not seeking it. I tell you I don't want it. After every one of these big wars the troubles pile up and pile up and pile up. And I might happen to be in there, in that office, when it happened."

"Why, they'd throw everything at me but the kitchen sink. They tried to impeach Andy Jackson after the Civil War and they nearly did it, too. They'd probably try to impeach me. I'm not seeking it, I don't want it."

Less than a year later Truman was president. The years immediately following saw a series of ups

The mothers now have put away the winter leggings; and, at play, Bare-headed and in lighter dress outdoors the children run.

The rugs are on the line again—That they may freshly shine again. The furniture is moved about. And every room is bare. I cannot find the books I need. I have no place to sit and read. I'm told for new upholstering They've sent away my chair.

I'm getting suppers cold again. And, I am being told again: You can't expect hot meals at night.

Here's what they say... "Peter Antoniades, a Greek cafe proprietor in Johannesburg has a secret which if his claims for it are justified may set the tea industry of India and Ceylon by the ears"..."His secret lies in a white powder, his own composition, which he mixes with the tea. He will not reveal the formula"..."Reporters tested the beverage he brewed from a teaspoonful of tea, a portion of his white powder, enough to cover a three-penny bit, and boiling water. They said it was no different from tea brewed in the ordinary way."

For The Mail Box

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20.—To Rep. Joe Martin: In your search for a means to remove President Truman you are using the wrong reference source. The authority you need is not in the Constitution, but it is in the Declaration of Independence.

The Constitution says that a President is impeachable only for "treason, bribery or other high crimes and misdemeanors." But the Declaration contains this fruitful passage:

"... governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it."

Thus, Mr. Martin, if you can show that President Truman no longer holds the "consent of the governed," he is removable under a document which is 21 years older than the Constitution and which is, in historical fact, the basic charter of the Constitution.

No Need For A Law

There is no law, and no need for a law, to remove a sovereign who no longer enjoys the confidence and support of his people. This right of removal is extra-legal or supra-legal. It is inherent in the Democratic process, since removing (or unchoosing) a chief of state is merely the reverse and the complement of choosing. The Declaration which was nothing else than the impeachment of King George III by the Continental Congress, asserts the removal right which has been exercised many times, before and since, by Democratic societies. The forcing of the Magna Carta upon King John was a partial removal, since it clipped a portion of the monarch's power. The deprivations of Charles I, Louis XVI, Edward VIII and Leopold of the Belgians are all examples of the supra-legal exercise of the removal right.

I am making here an argument, not a recommendation, concerning the deposing of a President in midterm. There is no proof, as yet, that Mr. Truman has lost the "consent of the governed" under which he serves. But there is no doubt that the Constitution does recognize the power of removal by other means than impeachment. Article XII, which spells out the duties of the Vice President, says that the Second Citizen shall take over "in case of removal (N.B.) or inability (N.B.) to discharge the powers and duties of the said office."

All the important words are there—"removal," "resignation," "inability to discharge the powers." The Electoral College, which seated Mr. Truman, could rightfully unseat him if it decided that he no longer holds the "consent of the governed." But a large burden of proof, Mr. Martin, would be upon those who demanded the removal.

To Senator Joe McCarthy: Your championship of Gen. MacArthur wasn't as strong on June 24, 1948, as it is now. On

Chicago Man Held For Gas Station Robbery

Donald Sallman, of South Engleside street, Chicago, was held in the city jail today, having allegedly confessed to Detectives Thomas Boyle and George Sigler that he looted the Eakin gas station, Grant and Sampson streets, cash register of $15.50 at 2:15 a.m. today.

He was arrested by Policemen William Birt and Patsy Rozzi. The money was found later where he allegedly had thrown it away after being accused of the larceny.

Sallman and another young man also of Chicago, came here April 17 to visit relatives.

While driving in Sampson street tire on Sallman's car developed a leak. He drove into the gas station and while the tire was being repaired by Ralph Lewis at the station, Sallman confessed he took $15.50 from the cash register.

His companion was in the rest room when he stole the money, he stated.

When accused by Lewis of the theft he denied it but, before police arrived, threw $5.50 on the ground outside the station proper. Then threw a $10 bill out of a police cruiser car window in Cochran Way.

Today, in his alleged confession, he exonerated his companion. However, the companion is being held on an open charge, pending disposition of the case.

ately concerned with the future of Japan and the implications of MacArthur's removal were called out of bed and told the decision in the middle of the night after it had been made.

The eventualities growing out of this step can be tremendous. A U.N. retreat would almost certainly bring a demand for use of the atomic bomb on the theory that since the president had discarded one of our major weapons in Asia, MacArthur, surely it was time to use all the weapons in our arsenal in order to prevent further disaster and save American lives. Such a demand has already come from Representative Albert Gore of Tennessee.

Public dismay over a retreat and heavier losses could produce still another crisis decision. It might force use of the atomic bomb. And then the aim of preventing a Third World War, which, I am convinced, the president holds with deep sincerity, would in all probability be lost. And not only the blame for the disaster, but the punishment as well could be expected to fall on him.

Rural Women Have Meeting

Home Economics Program Is Held

Women of the rural section of the county had their annual spring home makers day program in the Highland U. P. church in the town, with 150 women in attendance.

Mrs. Arthur Kohnfelder was chairman of the day, and a program of exceptional interest to the homemakers was presented.

The day's activities opened with devotions in charge of Mrs. Walter Perry of North Beaver township. Mrs. Kohnfelder gave a review of the highlights at the mid-century White House conference, held in Washington, D. C., last December in connection with the theme, "Our responsibility toward children and youth." The pledge to children, adopted at the conference was received.

A motion picture entitled "It Takes All Kinds" was shown by Mrs. R. G. Eakin of the Y. W. C. A., showing teenage activities of children and shots taken at the Y. W. C. A. camp at East Brook.

Playlet Presented

A playlet was presented by the women of the Wilmington township group, entitled "Planning the Family Spending," in which prediction of living costs and farm income for 1951 were brought out.

The exhibits of furniture, clothing and food made by the women during the past year were arranged and shown.

Lunch was served at the noon hour by the women of the Highland U. P. church, and there was table fun, arranged by the women of the Castlewood group, followed by a fashion parade, who garments made by the women were modeled. Included were also children's garments.

After the dinner hour the women reassembled in the auditorium, when they were addressed by Miss Mary Rissinger, assistant supervisor of home economics at Penn State college, who gave a panel board talk on the subject, "Penn State Comes to Youth."

Miss Hannah A. Parks, supervisor of special education in the schools of Lawrence and Beaver counties, discussed the exceptional child and cited a number of examples of the education being given to those who are handicapped. A lively discussion period followed her talk, when a number of questions were answered by Miss Parks.

Soldier Vote
Plans ReadiedFamilies Can Ask
For Military Ballot

Plans for the military ballots for men and women in service are now being prepared in the bureau of elections.

William A. Eakin, chief clerk to the bureau of elections, said today that securing a ballot for a man or woman in service would be comparatively simple.

Men or women in service can get their ballots by mailing an application to the bureau of elections, or members of their families or even friends can secure them and mail them to them.

These military ballots can be secured 25 days before the primary of July 24, which means that on June 29 the ballots can be secured. Any mail requests from military personnel received within 48 hours after June 29 will be honored, but after that no requests can be honored.

The military ballot also applies to hospitalized veterans. For example, if a man is in Aspinwall or any other veterans' hospital he can secure a ballot and vote.

No men and women in service or hospitalized veterans need to be registered.

In short, if a member of a family is in service in the United States or any foreign country, he or she is entitled to vote whether or not he or she is registered.

The recent law makes it easy for military men and women or hospitalized veterans to vote. But in order to vote they must have a ballot. They can apply for it themselves or a member of their family or a friend can secure it in the court house on or after June 29 and send it to them.

The ballots must be returned to the bureau of elections not later than the Friday after the primary.

Beaver Valley Presbyterian At Wurtemburg UP

"Take Root Downward, Bear Fruit Upward" was the theme for discussion at the 74th annual convention of Beaver Valley Presbyterian for the Women's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church on Thursday. The spring assembly was conducted in Wurtemburg U. P. church, Mount Route 7, Ellwood City. Mrs. James M. Blackwood of the church led the devotional period.

Mrs. E. D. McKune Speaks

Mrs. E. D. McKune, editor of the Women's Missionary magazine, gave an inspiring talk, telling how the themes for the presbyterian are chosen. Themes for the three previous years have been "Follow Me", "Learn of Me" and "Go and Tell". It is fitting that this year's topic should be "That Ye Bear Much Fruit".

Since this is mid-century and the roots have been planted, our generation and future generations must bear fruit. The speaker added that the harvest is ready and as harvesters are ready to go to the mission fields, it is a challenge to this generation.

Constitution Amended

Departmental secretaries have their yearly reports. The presbyterian's constitution was amended to correspond to the new church year which begins on January 1, instead of April 1. The group voted to elect new officers at the fall presbyterian, assuming their duties on January 1. Election was originally planned for the spring meeting.

After lunch at noon Mrs. George Glass of Third U. P. church, New Castle, led a worship service at the afternoon session.

Mrs. John Gerstner Speaks

Mrs. John Gerstner, Pittsburgh, gave a talk on her trip around the world, stressing the needs and sufferings of people in other lands and the great need of intercessory prayer. The speaker told of the great sacrifices of the missionaries, citing the work of Dr. Norval Christie, whom she knew in college. Dr. Christie, who was first in his class at Harvard, could have carved fame for himself at home, but instead chose to do missionary work. Christian people must decide whether the work will go on or whether it will die out on account of lack of funds, added Mrs. Gerstner. She also paid tribute to the fine work of wives of the missionaries.

The speaker told how these men, especially Dr. Christie, operate day and night. She and Rev. Gerstner held flashlights while he performed eye operations, working some times 24 hours a day at a time. She added that these men save more souls in a week than Christ saved in His lifetime, proving the scripture, "Greater works than these shall ye do, because I go unto My Father".

Ruth Ann Boots of Camp Run U. P. church offered the beautiful solo "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings".

Mrs. Alex Hanna read interesting letters from Miss Jeanette McCrory and Miss Margaret Murdock, missionaries, supported by Beaver Valley Presbyterian societies. A shower of money was contributed for the two missionaries.

The convention of the WGMS will be held in Washington, Pa., from June 7-11. Ellwood City U. P. church has extended an invitation for the fall presbyterian.

Dr. J. M. Blackwood, pastor of the host congregation, offered the benediction.

More Vegetables To Be Grown This Year In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, April 20.—(INS)—The state agriculture department reported today that more vegetables will be grown for canning and freezing this year in Pennsylvania than last.

A possible reduction is indicated, however, in the acreage for growing truck crops for fresh market, according to the department.

The agency based its announcement on early reports reflecting 1951 acreage plans of commercial vegetable growers.

Armed forces needs were cited as the reason for the upswing in truck acreage for canning and freezing.

A federal-state survey disclosed that Pennsylvania growers will plant 5300 acres of snap beans, an 18 per cent increase over 1950. The national goal is 10 per cent.

Intended planting of 12,100 acres of sweet corn reflects a 15 per cent increase over 1950 but 25 per cent short of the national goal.

Slight reductions in strawberry and fall cabbage acreages were forecast, while 2600 acres of spinach for fresh market will be 600 more than in 1950.

Farm flocks of hens, meanwhile, produced more eggs in Pennsylvania during March than in any other month on record in the state. If the high production continued a new annual record will be set to overshadow the 1950 mark of 3,377,000,000 eggs.

Colored hat bands on men's straw hats were first introduced in England nearly 100 years ago.

Mrs. Rosenberg Seeks Transfer From Sing Sing

NEW YORK, April 20.—(INS)—Federal Judge Irving Kaufman is considering today a plea from Mrs. Ethel Rosenberg, convicted atom spy, that she be returned to the women's house of detention from the Sing Sing death house.

In an application presented in U. S. district court, Mrs. Rosenberg said her confinement in the isolation of the death house is an attempt to "break her".

Mrs. Rosenberg, sentenced with her husband Julius for conspiracy to transmit atomic secrets to Russia, said her confinement in the death house is a "misuse and abuse" of the discretion and power of U. S. Marshal William A. Carroll and Warden W. L. Denno.

She contended that it also "violates my right of due process of law under the fifth amendment of the constitution of the United States."

Complaining of the solitude imposed on her in the death house, Mrs. Rosenberg contended that it was like living "in a tomb" and compared her imprisonment to the "barbarity of the rack, the thumbscrew and the wheel."

She added:

"It is a living hell to be separated from the warmth, love, affection and strength of my husband."

Judge Kaufman may rule on Mrs. Rosenberg's petition Monday.

Marjorie Nelson At Walmo P.T.A.

A highly informative, as well as interesting program was presented at the Walmo P.T.A. on Wednesday evening when Mrs. Marjorie Rhodes Nelson of the New Castle senior high school explained in detail the guidance program of the New Castle schools.

The flexibility of the curriculum of the New Castle schools is a timely subject since all Neshannock township junior and senior high school students attend school in New Castle. Since the vocational guidance program has been set up, Mrs. Nelson, with the cooperation of all teachers and personnel, has been interested in the individual child, attempting through aptitude and general interest tests, to lead each child into the field in which he is best fitted.

In many instances, a teenager coming under the guidance program is actually diverted from a certain field into which he is headed to one in which he may have stronger tendencies. Mrs. Nelson stated that those in charge of the program must be given cooperation and encouragement by understanding and well-informed parents.

The guidance program has one objective; namely, to best fit each person who is graduating from senior high school to go out into the world a happier person, better able to take his place in society. It is not primarily for the college-bound boys and girls, for its prime purpose is to fit the hundreds that will never see college to earn a better living. Every parent present felt a personal responsibility in seeing that this program is supported.

During the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Robert McCullough, the group was asked to remember Mrs. Ball, seventh grade teacher, who has been quite ill, with a gift. The room awards for attendance went to Mrs. Bolland's, third grade; and Mrs. Patterson's, third and fourth grades.

'Permanent Prosperity' Is Discussed By R. W. Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1951, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., April 20.—I continue to believe in the cycle theory. This means that we will have peace scares, war scares and labor scares. But none of us may live to see another 1929-32.

The Armament Industry

Heretofore the preparation for war has been a haphazard affair. We have frantically prepared for war when we saw it coming. After the war was over, we demobilized and our war preparations were stopped. Hence, each generation saw a sudden radical change from producing peace goods to producing military supplies. Then they later saw an abrupt change back again to peace goods. It may be that this "on-again-off-again" process is over. The war industries business may become stable and constant like most other businesses. Let me illustrate:

We could have a constant flow of new tanks, jeeps, airplanes, bombs, etc., each year, whether or not war is expected. Tanks, for instance, have a five-year "life", due to obsolescence. Then each year all the tanks over five years old would be ground up for scrap, or else sold to foreign countries in exchange for much needed raw materials. This would always give us a supply of the latest modern tanks, the same as we now have improved automobiles, washing machines and radios each year.

Effect Upon Business and Employment

This program could be a great stabilizer for business, employment and investments. It would provide an incentive to colleges to train personnel to run war industries. It would assure permanent jobs for those now in such war industries. The entire present picture would change. Instead of the war industry being wastefully prosperous at one time, and then dead at other times, it would always be normally prosperous. Each year we would use new blue prints and old war materials to make a new stock of tanks, guns, jeeps, planes, bombs, etc. Then, at the end of five years, we would break these up for scrap; after which new ones would be built according to new models. After five more years these new models would become obsolete and be reconverted into raw materials, and so on indefinitely.

This probable program is something for every investor to consider. Instead of the steel industry being a feast or famine business, this program could make it fairly stable. It could stabilize railroad stocks, which otherwise will have a big slump when peace comes again. Under this cycle theory a railroad, operating between Detroit and Pittsburgh, would have constant loads—hauling the steel to Detroit, then hauling the scrap back to Pittsburgh—and after it is made into steel—hauling the steel again to Detroit—and so on forever!

Investors and Labor
I am fearful what labor leaders will do when the next depression comes. Putting the armament business on a permanent basis, however, could postpone a severe labor conflict for many years. The program would keep money flowing into the stores to buy consumer goods and thus help both merchandising and manufacturing stocks and the rails. In fact, such a new industry could prevent a stock market collapse for many years. Earnings could be stabilized and fair dividends assured.

Labor's real gripe is that the government wants to put a "ceiling" on wages, but not on profits. If investors had a "floor" on profits, the same as union labor and the farmers have a floor on wages, a ceiling on profits would be feasible.

Garden Notes

Flowers which do not like to be transplanted include annual poppies, salpiglossis, mignonette, annual phlox. If necessary to transplant them the seedlings should be grown in small pots so they can be moved without disturbing their roots.

Keep out of the garden when the leaves are wet with dew or rain. Walking among the plants may help to spread fungus disease.

Spraying to protect your garden should begin before insect or fungus damage is apparent. After the damage is done it is too late. You can count on the same enemies that attacked the garden last year.

Perennial flower seed should be included in the spring seed order and sown when the weather is cool and the soil moist. Germination is then much better and the seedling plants have a long session of favorable conditions for growth before being transplanted to the border in the fall.

A flower which no insects bother is pyrethrum, a hardy perennial daisy. From plants of the same family one of the most effective insecticides is prepared. Pyrethrum grows from seed sown in August, flowering the following year and living many years through the coldest winters.

Don't cut the asparagus too late if you expect an equally good crop next year. Give it a dressing of plant food when you stop cutting.

Help To Improve Road Leading To Isolation Home

Jane M. Cochran, executive secretary of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society, stated today that the society wishes to express its gratitude to those instrumental in effecting the improved road to the new isolation home.

The road is about 500 feet long, and because it was very narrow, was widened from 8 to 14 feet, through the efforts of Carmen D'Ambrosia and Joseph Gennaro.

Just before opening day, Gennaro widened and graded the road, from the Ellwood road to the home, and Ambrosia furnished Limestone and labor for the finishing.

This work was secured through the efforts of County Commissioner Joseph F. Travers.

CORRECTING ROUND SHOULDERS

"Can you give me any exercises and suggestions for correction of round shoulders and a scrawny neck? I have both and as a result am self-conscious?"

Answer: Round shoulders are very disfiguring but are very easily corrected if you care to take the trouble. And it is certainly to your advantage to take the trouble since this unfortunate condition grows worse with the years. First of all, stand up straight, shoulders back, head high, abdomen in. To strengthen your back muscles so that you will automatically stand straight, here are some exercises you might try:

Stand in front of your mirror (that you may see how in need of correction you are). Strengthen your shoulders, hold in your abdomen and keep the lower part of your body straight. Bend your head back as far as possible. Do this three times for two or three mornings and then work up to six times. The rest is up to you and your determination to stand up properly.

Buy a good throat cream and massage your neck nightly. Many exercises makes these conditions worse rather than better. This one you will find mild as well as helpful.

Drop your head forward as if it were too heavy to hold up, then roll it sideways and drop it back as if it were a dead weight, then roll it down the other side and drop it in front again. Do this a few times every morning.

Question: We had a discussion recently about service medals and insignia. Are they always worn on the left side and why?

Answer: Yes. It is an old custom dating back to the Crusades, the left side being the shield side of the Crusaders, in addition to which it was near the heart that the knights of old placed their badges of honor and fealty to their king.

Australian Minister Sees Speedy Pact For Pacific Defense

MELBOURNE, April 20.—(INS)—Australian Minister for External

Affairs Percy Spender forecast today a "speedy conclusion" of negotiations for a Pacific defense pact announced in Washington by President Truman.

Spender described the President's announcement as "a green light on the road to Pacific security."

He said the plan under which the United States, Australia and New Zealand will join in a mutual aid program "reflects the most important single development in Australian foreign relations since the war."

The National Gallery of Art building in Washington cost about $15 million to build.

Congress Law May Provide Happy End For Romance

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 20.—(INS)—The romance of a Harvard law school student and a Japanese concert singer today appeared headed for culmination in marriage.

The House passed a bill which would allow Kimi Hatano, 25, of Kyoto, to stay in the United States three months. If she marries while here, and Roy B. Erickson, Jr., 29, of Cambridge, says that is the reason she is coming, Miss Hatano can remain in America.

Erickson has been trying to obtain a visa for Miss Hatano since 1949, the year they met in Japan. Erickson, who served in Japan as an Army captain was charged in 1946 but remained in Japan as a civilian employee of the government.

Kimi is a graduate of a Japanese girls' college. Erickson said she would continue her singing career in the United States.

Flying Resumed At New Castle Airport

With the arrival of better weather, full scale flying has been resumed at the New Castle airport. It was reported today by Penn Aero Service, operator of a flying school there. Several local pilots have taken advantage of the good weather and have "taken to the air". Two pilots have now completed their solo flights, these being John Harsh of 466 Neshannock avenue and Clyde Reed of R. D. 8, Knox avenue. Paul Braddigan of 814 West Grant avenue successfully passed the private pilot's test given him and was granted his license.

Lawrence Craven of Wampum is now the owner of a PT-19 plane which he purchased through the Penn Aero Service.

WOMEN TO OBSERVE
"NATIONAL HOME DEMONSTRATION WEEK"

"Our Responsibility Toward Children and Youth" is Pennsylvania's theme for National Home Demonstration Week, April 29 to May 5. During this week, Lawrence county homemakers who are taking part in the agricultural and home economics extension program will center their interest on children and youth.

A spring Homemakers' Day is planned for Thursday, April 19, in the Highland U. P. church, New Castle.

Not only are homemakers setting aside one day to consider their responsibility toward future citizens, but they also will exhibit some of the work they have accomplished through participation in home economics extension. Homemakers cannot show in dollars and cents all of their achievements, for many of these are seen in improved family health and living, healthy personalities in their children, and more family cooperation.

Further information on Homemakers' Day may be obtained from one of the local group chairmen or the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office Bldg., New Castle.

HOME CHALLENGES

Today's home faces a challenge in the present situation which taxes its ability to insure a safe world tomorrow. During National Home Demonstration Week, April 29 to May 5, homemakers will take stock of their resources and plan to reinforce some of the important segments on the home front. Whether on the farm or in the city, a home is the same.

MEAL TIME HINTS

To make mealtime pleasant for you and your family, plan food so it is varied and appetizing. Give children small portions of food at a time, let them ask for second servings. Let each child's appetite guide them.

MOW HAY FINISHER GOOD INVESTMENT

Hay production in Pennsylvania tops other agricultural products both as to acres harvested and dollar value. Yet it is estimated that 35 per cent of this crop is lost every year because of damage by the weather.

A mow hay finisher may be the starting point of a better farm roughage program. By forcing air through the hay most of the losses caused by bad weather can be prevented, the feeding value is increased through greater retention of leaves, green color and palatability. The hay can be harvested at the proper stage of maturity and can be stored without danger of overheating—thereby eliminating spontaneous combustion.

The mow hay finisher handles baled, chopped or long, loose hay equally well. Most farmers use their present hay harvesting equipment provided it can handle heavy green hay. The only added expense is the drying equipment itself. This usually includes a propeller type fan, electric motor and a suitable duct system that the farmer should be able to build himself. Several Lawrence county farmers built such systems.

The cost of a hay finisher installation will range between $600 and $800. The cost depends on the size of the unit, amount of wiring changes necessary, materials available on the farm and amount of labor hired. The cost of electricity for operating a mow hay finisher is about $1 per ton of dried hay.

Overhead costs, including depreciation, interest, repairs and housing run between $1 and $1.50 per ton of dried hay. However, when the same fan and motor are used for drying grain and the motor is used to operate other equipment, such as a feed grinder or mixer, hay hoist, etc., the equipment can be made to pay for itself in a short period of time.

Farmers interested in installing this equipment should secure complete information from the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

PENNSYLVANIA LEADING IN BRUCELLOSIS CONTROL

Pennsylvania is out front with its revised state-wide program for elimination of brucellosis (Bang's disease) from the dairy and beef cattle herds of the state. Pennsylvania leads all other states in the number of herds certified or free from this disease.

The revised program now in effect is a co-operative effort among farmers, the Bureau of Animal Industry, the practicing veterinarians and the Agricultural Extension Service.

This co-operative program is looked upon by the livestock industry of the United States as an example of what can be done through combining an educational and co-operating control program to get the job done.

The first full year's operation of this program produced surprisingly good results. These included:

(1) Over 100,000 calves vaccinated in 23,545 herds.

(2) 8,516 certified brucellosis-free herds—more than any other state in the whole country.

(3) Three new counties entirely tested for the first time—Allegheny, Dauphin and Carbon.

(4) One new county was added to the list of certified brucellosis-free—Somerset.

Pennsylvania now has 23 counties certified as brucellosis-free, six counties completely tested, but not yet certified as having less than one per cent infection required for certification, and 18 counties partially tested.

Lawrence county is one of the certified brucellosis-free counties.

The goal of the state tuberculosis committee is to vaccinate all calves raised to give them resistance against possible infection: to test as fast as possible to locate infected animals and then to remove them with indemnity payment. In this way pockets of infection will be attacked until the state is free from this dreaded and costly disease.

Seven Million In Crowd Greeting Gen. MacArthur

ber of his party all of whom—with the sole exception of the five-starred commander himself—drooped with the fatigue of three solid days of tremendous homecoming activities.

"He is in magnificent health," said his admiring personal physician, Col. Charles Canada. "He seems stronger as he goes along."

Just before the great parade to city hall—through streets where hundreds of thousands began gathering in the early morning hours—an aide of the general said MacArthur despite only about six hours sleep was looking forward to the day with "tremendous enthusiasm and humble pleasure."

If anything could add to New York's own pleasure in "MacArthur Day" it was the simple tribute of the general himself to the city when he arrived from Washington last night.

"When we've reached the city of New York," he said huskily, "we know we've come home."

The parade through the city, then up lower Broadway to city hall along Skyscrapers Canyon wound past crowds jammed curbs to walls along every street.

Incredible Paper Shower

Overhead, paper showered down in an incredible downpour—not only along the parade route and at the city hall reception—but everywhere in the city.

In places the "ticker tape" shower fell so heavily that paper covered the sidewalk in layers. All lower Manhattan was given over entirely to the parade and the festivities.

Streets were so crowded that not a vehicle could move except those of the MacArthur motorcade.

Tensed lines of police, aided by wooden barriers, kept the crowds back to allow at least parade room.

General MacArthur, riding in the car, sat on the tonneau of an open car waving and smiling.

Every inch of the way the roars and cheers of the crowd drowned out all other city sounds.

In the harbor, blocks from the scene, vessels of every description cut loose with their whistles and sirens.

Overhead, an airplane wrote in the clear, sunny sky the one huge word, "welcome."

Greatest Parade Ever

NEW YORK, April 20.—(INS)—The city General MacArthur calls home clasped him to its heart to-day and gently rebuked his belief that old soldiers "just fade away" with a pledge of "the biggest and warmest parade this country has ever witnessed."

This morning, thousands of out-of-towners began pouring into New York by train, bus, plane and private car to swell the throngs of well-wishers.

Some five million persons are expected to line New York's concrete canyons to welcome with cheers and sentimental tears the gallant commander who said on his arrival in the nation's largest city after a 51 year tour of duty:

"We've Come Home"

"When we've reached the city of New York, we know we've come home."

At least two million persons, according to police estimates, gave the General and Mrs. MacArthur and their boy Arthur an uproarious greeting along the line of the 15-mile route from International Airport to the Waldorf-Astoria last night.

White lightning from 75 MM guns stabbed the darkness in a 17-gun salute as the general stepped down from the silvery Constellation Bataan which had carried him from Tokyo across the world to San Francisco, Washington and New York.

With ruffles and flourishes an army band struck up "The General's March" and then "The Side-walks of New York."

Old Soldiers Never Die'

Then came an emotional moment when the 50-piece band turned to the old barracks room-balled "Old Soldiers Never Die." Just a few hours earlier the general had referred to the piece in his closing words to Congress with "Old soldiers never die. They just fade away."

The conqueror of Japan raised a hand trembling with emotion, his wife and son at his side, and told beaming officials at the airport:

"I cannot tell you how heart-warming is this splendid welcome."

Major Vincent Impellitteri wrung the general's hand and exclaimed:

"This is only a sample of what we intend to do. You will get the biggest and warmest parade this country has ever witnessed."

At the Waldorf-Astoria where the MacArthur's occupied the Presidential suite word was given out that the general was asleep at midnight.

Today will be a big day for the five-star general who last visited New York 14 years ago to be married and then left for the Philippines to write new brilliant chapters in a stirring career.

A police detail of 7,000 officers and men is prepared for a demonstration regarded as certain to exceed those accorded Charles A. Lindbergh, on his return from Paris in 1927, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, on his return from the war in Europe in 1945.

All walks of life, all shades of political opinion, will be represented in the vast throngs who will line Manhattan for a glimpse of the deposed United Nations commander, whose compelling speech before a joint meeting of Congress yesterday is the country's number one issue.

At 11:05 a.m. (EST) and his party left the Waldorf-Astoria hotel behind a 50-car motorcade. They proceeded through Central Park, down Broadway through Times Square and the teeming garment district to the Battery.

One hour later, a parade made up of units of mounted police, the army, navy, coast guard, marine corps, air force, police, fire, and sanitation departments, and veterans organizations left Bowing Green for the Battery.

There, the motorcade will fall in behind the procession and the grand parade up Broadway started, winding through "Ticker-Tape Canyon" in the financial district, to City Hall.

A crowd limited to 25,000, all guests of veterans groups, observes the City Hall ceremonies. Then the general will be the guest of Mayor Vincent Impellitteri at a luncheon on the Starlight Roof of the Waldorf.

To Quarantine More Countries

Flag-Smut Quarantine Will Be Extended

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(INS)—

The agriculture department soon will add 16 foreign countries to the U. S. wheat flag-smut quarantine.

Although the decision has not yet been announced publicly, sources in the department say the flag-smut quarantine will be extended on the basis of findings of recent public hearings on the matter.

Wheat and wheat products that might contain spores that produce the flag-smut disease now are prohibited entry into the U. S. from India, Japan, China, Australia, Union of South Africa, Italy and Spain.

The countries to be added to the wheat import ban are Afghanistan, Bulgaria, Caucasus, Chile, Cyprus, Egypt, Germany, Greece, Netherlands, Pakistan, Persia, Portugal, Tunisia, Palestine, Turkey and Turkistan.

It was understood that a proposal to lift the quarantine entirely, rather than extend it, has been discarded.

Meanwhile, the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine is urging congress to supply enough funds to increase the number of port inspectors next year.

The bureau says it needs 46 new inspectors in 20 different ports to help protect the nation from importation of crop diseases.

Ten new inspectors would be added to the New York staff, seven at Honolulu, three at Boston, one at Port Arthur, Tex., three at Brownsville, Tex., three at Hidalgo, Tex., three at Laredo, Tex., one at Eagle Pass, one at El Paso, one in Puerto Rico, two at Anchorage, Alaska, two at New Orleans, two at Guam and three in the Virgin Islands.

Agriculture department scientists are calling farmers' attention to eight superior varieties of soybeans available for 1951's big production.

The varieties, developed during the past 10 years, are Lincoln, Hawkeye, Adams, Monroe, Wabash, Roanoke, Ogden and Blackhawk. These soybean varieties, the experts say, produce from 10 to 20 per cent more beans than other varieties.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

SWIMMING AND EARS

Swimming weather is almost upon us. For most children, this is something eagerly anticipated. But both Mary Brown and her folks dread it. For Mary is one of those youngsters who seems to pick up ear infections from swimming. And how she hates to have to stay out of the water when the rest of the gang is having fun.

With a few sensible precautions, Mary can join her friends. Here are suggestions which doctors give those susceptible to ear infections:

- 1—If the youngster has a cold, no matter how slight, keep him out of the water until it clears up.
- 2—If there's any diving to be done, a nose clip should be worn.
- 3—When swimming it is safer to breath the way good swimmers do—in through the mouth and out through the nose.
- 4—Find a good way to keep water out of the ears. A bathing cap won't do the trick, but rubber ear plugs or non-absorbent cotton ones will.

5—Come out of the water before getting chilled.

Swimming needn't be forbidden.

Rules like the above, which shouldn't be difficult to follow, will usually enable youngsters to swim without danger of trouble.

Forecasts High Powered Atomic Trains In Future

LONDON, April 20.—(INS)—A ministry of supply spokesman predicted today that "possibly within a generation" Britons will be riding in atomic-powered trains, ships and airplanes.

Of atomic-powered automobiles, George Strauss said:

"The idea may sound fantastic now, but there are British scientists who consider it feasible in the not too distant future."

Strauss, government head responsible for atomic research in Britain, has contracted with an atomic power unit suitable for use in large merchant ships and warships.

One Workman Is Killed, Two Injured In Plant Accident

PITTSBURGH, April 20.—(INS)—One workman was killed and two others injured today in a railroad accident at the Heppenstall Steel Company plant in Pittsburgh.

In "fair" condition are John West, 28, with hand injuries, and Adolph Malinowski, 32, with leg injuries.

Police said West was operating the gas engine, pulling a train of cars through the plant, when the gas pedal stuck.

The engine struck Malinowski, throwing him to one side, and then pinned Schaffer against another railroad car.

NEW YORK, April 20.—(INS)—Twelve hundred telephone calls were received last night at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria for General MacArthur. About 10,000 telegrams were waiting for MacArthur at the hotel.

All the callers wanted to speak with the five-star general personally. Some claimed to be close friends.

Each was told the general was not to be disturbed.

Guarding the general's suite were two military policemen, a city cop and a detective. Downstairs in the hotel were other policemen and the outside was heavily patrolled.

Paul Minner Wins First Start Of Season For Cubs

Blanks Redlegs
On Seven-Hitter

Giants And Braves
Split Twin Bill

NEW YORK, April 20.—(INS)—New Wilmington's Paul Minner made his 1951 debut on the mound for the Chicago Cubs a good one Thursday afternoon when he shut out the Cincinnati Reds on seven hits and winning 3-0.

Paul and Willard Ramsdell hooked up in a pitcher's duel that was iced for the Cubs by Andy Pafko's two-run single in the eighth inning. Minner gave up only one base on balls and scattered the seven Red hits. Near-freezing weather in Chicago held the crowd down to 4,626.

Jim Hearn authored a tasty pitching job against the Braves as the Giants won yesterday's curtain-raiser, 4 to 2. They bunched four hits for three runs off Warren Spain in the sixth to set it up.

Jethroe Hits Two

The nightcap goes better undescribed. Suffice it to say Earl Torgeson slammed Dave Koslo for a tenth-inning single with bases loaded and one out to break a 12-12 tie. How it got that way would take a volume to tell; but Sam Jethroe did have two homers, giving him three in four games played, and Monte Irvin had a bases-full jackpot blast for the Giants. Reliever Chet Nichols got the win.

At St. Louis, Al Zarilla and Eddie Robinson walloped three-run homers as the White Sox bombed the Browns 13-3.

Bad weather conked out all the rest of the scheduled offerings yesterday, but they go at it with a vengeance today.

President Truman is scheduled to throw out the first ball to open Washington's home season. The Senators, having dealt with the Philadelphia A's in their first two games, are now in a four-way tie for first place in the American League.

Rod And Gun Club At Monthly Meeting

The board of directors then planned to have their regular meeting, Wednesday, April 25, at the home of the treasurer.

Long Island U dropped inter-collegiate sports when it was disclosed that some of its players were involved in throwing games.

First Presbyterian Bows In Playoff

St. Mary's won the championship of the Church Duckpin League Thursday night at the Ne-shannock alleys when it downed the First Presbyterians 2402-2188

Carl Seward, captain of the champions, posted the highest single game with a 216. "Brownie" Sherwin and Henry Snyder followed with 215 and 214, respectively.

Tucker Nolan had the high three-game series of 507, followed by Sherwin with 498.

The St. Mary's team was champion of the second half of the league, while First Presbyterians topped the first half. League banquet will be held at the Elks club Thursday evening, April 26, at 7 o'clock.

Hitting Impressive

After only two days of outdoor training the squad is banging the balls plenty hard. About ten balls were hit over the fence in the Thursday workout.

The pitchers are showing up well but are still taking it easy with their arms. Many an arm has been thrown away in spring training.

The Indians are showing up well in the memories of those attending. It was a fitting tribute to the young athletes who participate in all types of sports under a great believer in sports, William F. DeCarbo.

Hornets-Barons Now Deadlocked

Final Game Of Series Saturday

CLEVELAND, April 20.—(INS)—The Cleveland Barons may wish now that they had never sold winger Bob Solinger to the Pittsburgh Hornets.

The blond, one-time rookie of the year stopped his teammates from winning their fifth American Hockey League title by leading the Hornets to a 3-1 victory last night in Cleveland.

The victory tied the playoff series at three games apiece. The final game will be played in Cleveland tomorrow night.

Final Game Saturday

Solinger, a speedy skater and excellent shot, has personally won two of Pittsburgh's playoff games against the Barons. Besides his two winning goals last night, Solinger won the opener, 3-2, with an overtime goal.

He has scored 10 goals in 11 playoff games, one behind Baron Wally Hergesheimer's new mark of 11.

The Hornets outplayed the Barons last night and are now regarded as favorites to win their first league crown tomorrow night.

Akron Bowler Fires 725 Series In ABC

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 20.—(INS)—Five of the nation's highest scoring teams—each averaging 1,000 points or better per game—take to the lanes tonight at the American Bowling Congress' annual marathon tournament in St. Paul.

Leading the pack is the famed E&B beer quintet of Detroit, ABC champions for the past two years. Others are the Jack Sharkeys of Battle Creek, Mich., and Kari Store Equipment, Brunswick Miners and First National Bank of Wisconsin, all of Milwaukee.

The tournament's first 700 series in singles play was produced yesterday by Clyde Potter, 43-year-old shot store buyer from Akron, O. Potter fired a 723 on 255, 247 and 221 games to steal the play from teammate Dick Hoover, national match game champion who had a 1,884 all-events score.

Maple Leafs Need One More Victory

MONTRAL, April 20.—(INS)—The Toronto Maple Leafs have their own ideas about getting paid extra for overtime.

The Leafs stood today within one game of hockey's biggest jackpot—the Stanley Cup—by virtue of having won three of the four cup games played so far against Montreal in the playoff's final series.

And all four went into overtime.

WEATHER FOR FISHING-'OVERCAST'

THE FISH WERE DEFINITELY OUTNUMBERED just below a dam in the Musconetcong River, Hackettstown, N. J., as scores of Izaak Waltons turned out in force to herald the opening of the trout season. The poor fish just didn't have a chance—at least not a reel one. (International)

Stock Market Little Changed

NEW YORK, April 20.—(INS)—

The stock market drifted irregularly lower in early dealings today. Trading was suspended for two hours at 11 a. m. to permit the financial district to witness the funeral parade for Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

DuPont was off 3/4 to 96 1/4; Chrysler off 1/8 at 80 and General Electric off 1/4 at 54 1/2. Firmness was displayed by General Motors which ruled 1/8 higher at 53 1/4.

Senators In Scuffle During Argument Over Gen. MacArthur

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(INS)—A Democratic senator was thrown out of a Senate radio room by a Republican colleague today in a scuffle which climaxed a hot argument over the policies of Gen. MacArthur.

Sen. Capahart (R) Ind., said he threw Sen. Humphrey (D) Minn., out of a recording room in the Senate office building after Humphrey and Sen. Lehman (D) N.Y., accused MacArthur and the Republicans of being warmongers.

The scuffle began at the end of a recording in which Sen. Taft (R) Ohio also participated. Taft said he helped separate the other three.

Capahart said that "fireworks started" after the recording was finished. He said:

"Humphrey came toward me with some outspoken, vitriolic language. I took him by the lapel of his coat and threw him out of the studio.

"Lehman attacked me in the rear and I proceeded to push him back into the studio.

"These two fellows can dish it out but are unable to take it. They and others might just as well make up their minds I will not sit idly by and let them accuse MacArthur and the Republicans of being warmongers."

Capahart later held a news conference to give a blow-by-blow account of the struggle.

Optimists Hear Talk By Reid

Plans Made For Marble Turney

Eben L. Reid, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association, spoke to the members of the Optimist club on community cooperation at the club's dinner meeting Wednesday evening at The Castleton hotel.

Plans for the annual marble tournament were also made at the meeting. The tournament in Lawrence county will be held on May 18 at George Washington junior high school.

The tourney is open to all boys in grade and junior high schools in Lawrence county. The winner will represent the county in the National tourney at Asbury Park, N. J., in June, with all expenses paid.

Bill Pettitt is chairman of the tournament with Henry Meine and Jim Stevenson co-chairmen.

Special guest at last night's meeting was Irvin Grossman, past president of the Butler Optimist club. Milt Golstone of Pittsburgh was also guest at the meeting.

Next meeting will be held Wednesday evening, May 2, at The Castleton hotel.

Men Will Dine At First U.P. Church

Butler Hennion, popular youth speaker and coach of Wampum high school's basketball team, WPIAL Section B champion, will speak at the fathers-sons banquet, sponsored by the Men's club of First U. P. church, on Tuesday, April 24, at 6:15 p. m.

Special music will be provided by Jim Crawford, high school senior, who will entertain with a French horn solo, and by the church's brass quartet, playing popular and classical numbers.

Toasts to the dads will be given by Bruce Brown, and the sons will be toasted by A. C. Brown.

The contact committee of the club is now in the process of contacting all of the Men's club members and inviting them to the dinner. Church members should contact Edward Miller or Charles Beckwith as soon as possible. John Mikels is president of the Men's club, Harvey Bush the program chairman.

VIOLA FOUND
MADRID — (INS) — A Stradivarius viola formerly belonging to the Spanish court and which disappeared from the Royal Palace here in 1813 during the War of Independence, has been recovered by the Spanish state. It was reported that a price of 12,500 pounds sterling was paid by the Spanish government to the man who had it in his possession — said to have been an Englishman whose identity was not disclosed.

The first warship of the British navy was the "Great Harry," built in 1509.

New Paint Cleaner Retains Gloss

Have you ever cleaned walls or woodwork when the paint literally disappeared before your eyes? Perhaps your white woodwork formerly had a glorious gloss but after cleaning became flat and dull. Now you can retain the beauty of painted surfaces with the new C33 Concentrate. It removes the dirt but leaves the paint when used as directed. C33 is also ideal for cleaning venetian blinds, linoleum, refrigerators and tile. This new product now available at
